

Trion

pilgrim

"Strange to be walking on land... but how beautiful and grand to see these huge and massive trees rising up to the sky. The forest seemed endless and the path he followed was covered with green moss. Never before had Jemetrion experienced these new touching emotions... To feel the sun, to inhale the fresh forest air and the sensation of soft velvety moss touching his claws. 'The answer cannot be far away' he thought..."

Jemetrion takes on another journey through a wonderful world full of questions and answers...
